

STATE COLLEGE
FRATERNITY
HAS NEW HOMEYoungest Society at Institution First to Acquire Property

The Gamma Theta fraternity of New Hampshire college has recently purchased the place which has been for many years the home of Prof. C. I. Parsons. The transfer of the property was completed August 31, and the fraternity takes immediate possession. The place is one of the most beautiful and at the same time one of the most conveniently situated in the village. The house, which is one of the old ones of Durham, boasts its many and spacious rooms, is surrounded by a considerable amount of land, making it an ideal home for a group of college men.

Though the youngest of the fraternities at New Hampshire, the Gamma Theta is the only one to own its own home. It was organized in January, 1907, and incorporated recently under the laws of New Hampshire. The alumni members are staunch in their support of the move, which was undoubtedly hastened by the typhoid epidemic of last year, which was almost entirely confined to the members of the Gamma Theta fraternity and was caused by the contamination of the water furnished by an outside system to the house they occupied.

FARMERS DEMAND 40 CENTS
PER CAN DELIVERED AT CARThe Highest Price Yet Asked--Cannot Make Money Under Five Cents a Quart

The directors of the Boston Cooperative Milk Producers' Company met at the American House yesterday, and after an all-day session voted to ask 40 cents a can, or about 5 cents a quart, for milk delivered to the contractor at the car during the coming winter.

This price amounts to an advance of 5 1-2 cents over last winter's net price of 34 cents, since there are now to be transportation charges of 1 1-2 cents a can.

W. A. Hunter, one of the directors of the company, said last evening that the price now asked is the result of thorough investigations by agricultural colleges and milk experts in all parts of the country. He also declared that the producers could not sell milk with any profit at less than 5 cents a quart.

It was voted that the directors should hold mass meetings in several sections and that men should be sent into the back territory to get the producers there into line and to urge them to support the directors in the matter of their selling price.

EMPLOYEES AND MANAGERS WILL CONFER TODAYUnderstood a Satisfactory
Agreement Will Be Reached

The final meeting between the employees and the management of the Massachusetts North Eastern Electric Railway lines will be held at Haverhill today for the settlement of wages and working conditions as presented by the union some weeks ago. It is understood that a satisfactory agreement has been reached by both sides.

The union will not get all its demands in the way of more money, but will get shorter hours than at the present rate.

The new law which passed the Massachusetts legislature last session requiring only 9 hours a day for work goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1913. This law favors the men of the Electric lines and it is said they are satisfied to work under the same rate of pay as at present with this cut in hours. At the meeting today the Electric lines was represented by President D. A. Belden, General manager Franklin Woodman and Judge Samuel W. Emery. The union representatives are Timothy J. Sheehan, a national organizer, N. P. Walsh of the farmers' union, with a committee of five.

TELEGRAPH POLES
MUST COME DOWNSupt. Ballard Claims 'They Are Unsafe

The old telegraph lines of the Teleport Company within the city limits must be repaired to make them safe or come down. This is the order issued by wire inspector Ballard. The company which has long been bankrupt was formerly the Atlantic Telegraph Company and originally of Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Co.

The heavy owners were the Donovan estate of Lowell, Mass.

The company controls about eight miles of lines in the city between the Winchester farm and the Newington line which is in a very dangerous condition and causing the city much fear of accident. The matter will be brought up at the next meeting of the city council and a hearing ordered at the following meeting. Should a representative of the company appear at the hearing the inspector will remove the poles and wire on behalf of the city.

REMORSE AND SORROW
WILL COME TO AUDITORChairman Barton Denounces Action of Secretary Musgrove's Bolt to Roosevelt

Sharp criticism of the tardiness of Frank A. Musgrove in resigning as secretary of the republican state committee of New Hampshire is contained in a letter which J. M. Barton chairman of the committee has sent to Mr. Musgrove. Mr. Barton states that the frankness with which Musgrove resigned is nothing more than arrogance and nerve, in view of the fact that he has been known for months that he was a strong Roosevelt supporter. He also declares that Musgrove's action will be the cause of Keene disappointments in his many friends.

The letter in part reads:

"That you have deferred this action so long after making up your mind to quit the party, has been a source of regret to your friends and of wonder to many. Good ethics unquestionably required your resignation as soon as you had determined upon a course which rendered your loyalty to the republican party and its councils impossible. The state committee, however with a desire to save you from personal embarrassment were willing to allow you to retain your official title until the 17th of September, when a reorganization would be effected. It now appears that you were willing to defer the performance of this plain duty till you could make it the occasion of a smart address upon the opening day of the third term party in New Hampshire.

"Your frank statement to the committee, to which you refer in defence of your honor was a display of arrogance and nothing more. You confessed your purpose to be disloyal to the ticket to support which the committee is organized and yet sat tight in your office as its secretary. Here certainly was a splendid arena for the exhibition of principles closely related to common honesty. Mere frankness of attitude has often been only another name for boldness and furnished evidence of nerve. The secessionists of 1861 were frank both in statement and action, but the historians of all time will censure his conduct.

Your reasons for not supporting President Taft after he has done so much for you personally in giving you a start in life and after agreeing to support the nominee of the republican convention at Chicago, may be sufficient to satisfy your own mind but they will appear wholly inadequate to a large number of your friends who were looking to you for better things.

"The fact that you have read the briefs in the contested cases may have had some influence in assisting you to determine your course, but of those who know the political atmosphere which surrounds you it appears that regardless of the merits of these briefs you must have assumed your present attitude.

Here is where you appear false to your better self and unfair to President Taft. You should have stated frankly that like some others who have left all the tender associations of the past, you, too, were willing to forego all and blindly follow your leader.

However hard you may try to throw the burden and the blame on to President Taft, his friends and the republican party in state and nation you will signally fail. How ever you may try to rub out the spot of dirt

STATE COLLEGE OPENS TODAY

Dr. Richards Now Head of the English Department

New Hampshire College, opens Wednesday, Sept. 11 with several new members on its teaching staff. The new head of the English Dept. is Dr. A. E. Richards formerly of the University of Washington. Mr. Richards is a graduate of Yale '88, receiving the degree of Master of Arts from that institution in 1900. He then went to Winnetka, Ill., as teacher of English literature and history, but after one year continued his studies at the University. The following year, Dr. Richards was connected with the English Department of Lehigh University but left to take a similar position where he remained six years. His next field of work was in the Washington State University from which place he comes to New Hampshire as head of the department of English.

Dr. O. Butler comes from the University of Wisconsin to take the position of Prof. of botany in New Hampshire College. Dr. Butler graduated from the Ecole Cantonal, Lausanne, Switzerland in 1895. In 1905 he graduated from the University of California and one year later was given the degree of Master of Science and was made assistant in Viticulture in the Pathological Laboratory at Whittier, Cal. Cornell University granted him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1910 and since that time he has been research instructor in horticulture at the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Butler is the author of a large number of publications relating to diseases of grapes, plums and citrus fruits. Dr. Joseph H. Gourley, who has accepted the position as head of the Department of Horticulture is a graduate of the Ohio State University. After leaving college he served as assistant horticulturist at the Ohio State Experiment Station at Webster, Ohio, having charge of the experimental work. Mr. Gourley then returned to the state university to teach horticulture and to take charge of the horticultural extension work which has probably been more widely developed in Ohio than any other state. He has been identified with various orchard projects in Ohio and the Northwest and has served as foreman of market garden and green house concerns before entering college work. Associate Professor of Animal Husbandry, J. M. Jones, graduated from the University of Wyoming in 1911 with the degree B. S. Agr. The following year he received a research fellowship in the University of Missouri from which institution he received the degree of Master of Arts last June. Mr. Jones was raised in Wyoming and spent the early years of his life on a ranch in that state. He has studied under the wellknown shepherd of the Wyoming State College, James McLay.

The new instructor in woodworking is Mr. J. H. Philbrick, recently graduated from the Evening Polytechnic School of the Boston Y. M. C. A. Previous to this work he served as an apprentice at wood pattern making with foundry and drafting room experience, and later as pattern maker with the McIntosh, Seymour Engine Co., of Auburn, N. Y., the United Shoe Machine Co., at Beverly, Mass.; and Lynn General Electric Co. The other assistants in the Dept. of Mechanical Engineering is Mr. G. H. Donham. Mr. Donham has for the past two years been giving instruction in advanced manual work in the Manchester Manual Training School. Previous to this time he was engaged in practical shop work and spent two

The Surprise of the National Golf Tourney and the Two Finalists

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The national golf championship tourney which was played on the links of the Chicago Golf Club at Wheaton recently was one of the most exciting ever held. The biggest surprise of the tourney was the defeat of Harold D. Hilton of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club, who last year was premier golfer of the world, champion of England and America, by C. D. Waldo, Jr., of the Brooklawn club of Connecticut. The match went almost the full distance but Hilton was outplayed from the beginning and fought almost all day to cut down his opponent's lead. Hilton lost his advantage on the sixteenth green and was never in front again.

Waldo, who is state champion of Connecticut was later defeated by Paul Hunter of Middletown, a up. Next to the playing of Waldo, the playing of the finalists, Chick Evans, the local boy, and Jerome D. Travers of Montclair, N. J., were the features. The two cranks played a consistently good game all through.

Investment Clients

The men and women who invest their money through a representative American Bond House are more than customers of the House—they are its clients.

A client is one who consults an adviser in order to obtain expert confidential advice or assistance. The word client conveys a relation that is based on thorough trust on the one hand and conscious responsibility on the other, and carries a clear meaning that the interests of the adviser and of the client are identical.

E. H. Rollins & Sons is a representative American Bond House, with a record, since 1876, of conservative investment service. The greatest asset of this House is the good will of its clients. If it were not continuously striven for and deserved this good will would be without value.

ican party of New Hampshire will continue to support the constitution of their state, the constitution of the United States of America, and the Stars and Stripes; it will stand on the national republican platform and locally it will continue to stand for progress in all lines within the proper sphere of state government; it will give no man an excuse for leaving the party who ever had any proper reason for being in it.

The real issue before New Hampshire and before our entire country is this: "Are we ready to change our form of government. The republican say no most emphatically, and insist that our constitutions both state and national, written in the blood of our fathers must be preserved.

Col. Roosevelt, your dictator, would in effect, destroy these constitutions, and leave the property and lives of the people to the mercy of the majority of that electorate which for the time being was prevalent.

"The republicans will insist that this issue will be brought to the attention of the voters so that they will see how the popular benevolence and socialist schemes which you advocate are impracticable, hostile to the development of individual ambition and self reliance while they sow disintegrating forces all through our social, political and religious organizations.

"The republican party is determined to rid itself of all political bosses, from Roosevelt down, including the New Yorkers and Chicago contingent. All the actions of everyday life and of science are the common property of the people and cannot be monopolized by any political party. That the Third Termers campaign has been unwritten by millionaires there is no reason to doubt, but against this money we place our honest cause and the ability of the people to see through the sham and pretense which makes up the front of all you have to offer."

EDITOR TO BE TRIED ON SEPTEMBER 30

Lawrence—Sept. 10.—A virtual decision to begin the trial of Joseph J. Ector and Arturo Giovannitti, Industrial Workers of the World leaders in the textile strike here, last winter, Sept. 30, was reached at a conference in this city between Judge Quinn, presiding at the session of the superior court here, District Attorney Attwell and counsel for the indicted men. It was not decided whether the trial should be held in Lawrence or Salem. The labor men are charged with having instigated a riot in which Anna Lopizzo was killed. Orders were given to the clerk of the superior court to summon a panel of 300 talesmen, from which a jury will be selected. This is the largest number of talesmen ever called in the history of Essex county.

MORE ARMY OFFICERS KILLED IN FLYING MACHINES

OXFORD, Eng., Sept. 10.—Another double aviation fatality, the second within a week, occurred early today to members of the Army flying corps, when Lieut. C. A. Beltington and Lieut. E. Hotchkiss, both of whom had just been given commissions on probation, were killed while flying past Wolvercote.

The machine in which the officers were maneuvering had passed over Oxford and had reached a point just outside Wolvercote when the motor appeared to stop, and the aeroplane fell to the ground from a height of 500 feet.

One account of the accident says that an explosion occurred while the machine was in the air. The body of one of the officers was found in the river and the other was picked up in a field.

The officers were young men who only recently had received their flying certificates. A big battle in the Army maneuvers, in which a number of officers of the flying corps are taking part, commenced yesterday, and the newspapers this morning refer in glowing terms to the success of the aviation corps.

MAINE REPUBLICAN VICTORY A GREAT ONE

Revised Figures Increase Haines' Majority--Republicans Control Legislature.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10.—The political overturn in yesterday's Maine State election in which the Republicans won back the governorship and State auditorship and secured three of the four congressmen, a majority of the county contests and a sufficient majority on a joint ballot in the Legislature to assure a Republican United States senator, became more apparent today with revised and additional returns. William T. Haines of Waterville, the Republican ticket leader, was elected governor by a plurality of 3567 over Governor Frederick W. Plaisted, Democratic candidate, of Augusta, the vote being, with twenty-eight small towns missing, as follows:

Haines, Rep. 70,072
Plaisted, Dem. 66,551
Two years ago the vote for governor was as follows:
Bert M. Fernald, Rep. 64,672
F. W. Plaisted, Dem. 73,425

Republicans Gain a Congressman.

Congressman Asher C. Hinds, 5th district, and Frank E. Guernsey, 2nd district, were re-elected. The missing twenty-eight towns threw two years ago 751 votes for the Republican candidate and 846 for the Democratic leader.

In the fourth district, Republicans were re-elected. Hinds by 1950, an increased majority, and Forrest Goodwin, Republican, supplanted Congressman Samuel W. Gould, Democrat, in the third district. The Democratic candidate in the second district, Congressman D. J. McGillicuddy, was re-elected.

ed and five Democratic sheriffs were successful.

Republicans Carry Legislature.

The new Legislature will stand on a joint ballot, 94 Republicans and 78 Democrats, with 10 districts yet to report. The new Senate will be made up of 22 Republicans and 8 Democrats, with one district missing. The House will be composed of 72 Republicans and 70 Democrats, with nine districts missing. This majority will be sufficient to elect former Congressman Edwin C. Bureigh of Augusta for the full term beginning next March as United States senator in place of Senator Obadiah Gardner, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator William P. Frye, Rep.

Many So-Called Republicans for Roosevelt.

Political observers were in some doubt as to the effect of the Republican victory and the attitude of the Progressive leaders regarding the national election in November. All of the Progressive leaders were actively identified with the success of the Republican party in yesterday's election.

The truce between the two factions of the party which resulted in a Republican victory, according to many political writers, ended with the casting of the last vote, and politicians today awaited the first signs of the anticipated split. A number of Republican leaders announced their intention to go on the stump for Colonel Roosevelt for President and in opposition to President Taft for re-election, although twenty-four hours before the same men worked for the success of the Republican party in Maine.

Haines a Bull Moose.

"It is a vindication of good government," said Governor-elect Haines, later, addressing the Haines Club of Waterville, he said: "It is, indeed, a great pleasure to be greeted by such a number of fellowtownsmen, and I consider there is no greater tribute that could be paid to any man. In all my campaigning, this year I have been particularly careful not to say anything personal about any of my opposing candidates. I believe in the equal chance like the policy upheld by the great Theodore Roosevelt—a square deal for all. It has been my ambition to be chief executive of my native State. I have no other ambition. I expect to take the oath and will fulfill it and see that the laws are properly enforced by the regular appointed officers."

Governor Plaisted said: "The good weather and the large outpouring of the country vote had much to do with the Republican success in the State."

Hinds Increases His Vote.

The Democratic vote for Plaisted showed a falling off from that of 1910, which was particularly marked during the earlier returns. The struggle in the four congressional districts was fully as interesting as that two years ago. In the first district, Congressman Asher C. Hinds, the only outspoken Taft candidate in the election, showed an increase in his vote of two years ago. There were a number of interesting contests for sheriff in the sixteen counties, many of them based on the enforcement of the prohibitory law.

A portion of the paved street on Kingston will be opened to travel on Monday, and in another week all of the north side will be opened.

GREATEST CROP IN HISTORY OF COUNTRY

The September crop report of the department of agriculture shows that crops have maintained the excellent promise of a month ago. August is usually a trying month for the crops and the fact that spring wheat, corn and oats all showed marked improvement in condition as compared with that on August 1, and that the indicated yields of these crops show substantial increases over what was forecasted 30 days ago, make this report a remarkable one.

If crops mean prosperity, then the country certainly is in for a real "boom." The condition of corn is given in the latest report as 82.1 per cent of a normal, which compares with 80.9 per cent a month ago and 70.8 per cent a year ago. The indicated yield is 2,955,000,000 bushels, or 154,000,000 bushels more than was suggested by the report of a month ago. Furthermore, it is very likely that if the frosts hold off the final harvest may reach the tremendous total of 3,000,000,000 bushels.

The condition of spring wheat is 80.8 per cent of a normal, as compared with 80.4 per cent a month ago and 56.7 per cent a year ago. The crop now promises to be 830,000,000 bushels, which exceeds the optimistic estimate of a month ago by 14,000,000 bushels. The condition of oats has improved 2 per cent since a month ago, which means an increase in the yield of 33,000,000 bushels. The country will produce 105,000,000 bushels of potatoes more this year than there were last year. A bumper apple crop is indicated by the figures and the flax crop is the largest in several years.

COTTAGE BURNED AT JENNESS BEACH

A bungalow belonging to Charles A. Clarkson, and occupied for the summer by a party of young men from this city, was destroyed by fire at eight o'clock on Tuesday morning. The fire started in the kitchen and spread through the house and threatened to set fire to several of the nearby cottages and a telephone message was sent to this city, asking that the auto chemical be held in readiness in case the volunteer department could not handle the blaze. A small chemical from Rye Beach did good work and the flames were confined to the Clarkson cottage, which was a total loss. The damage is about $1,000. The origin of the fire is unknown, as there was no fire in the cottage during the night, or morning, as the young men all leave on an early car for their work in this city.

with him; there were rumors of his re-entry in active life every little while. This summer this re-entry was definitely decided upon, and since it is to be made in company with his former colleague, Lew Dockstader.

Last year saw the tremendously successful reunion of Joe Weber and Lew Fields, this year will mark the equally important reunion of Primrose and Dockstader.

Dockstader's characterization is timely in the extreme. He will take come of the Bull Moose Party, just to let people know how it was going to sound.

With his new plug hat and his moose hide vest, he can be relied upon to give a half hour of fun in the Rooseveltian strain. Dockstader has two new tropical songs, which have caught on like wild fire, "You Can't Get a Nickel from Me," and "They Told Me Down for the Count of Nine, But They Haven't Liked Me Yet."

Both Mr. Primrose and Mr. Dockstader have a host of friends in Portsmouth and they will be there to hear their favorites. The parade will start at 11.45.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—That the number of deaths in the typhoon which swept Cheong province Aug. 29 was nearer 75,000 than 40,000, as at first reported, was indicated in messages received today from Hangchow, the provincial capital.

The number of homeless and destitute, it is stated, runs close to a million. Local relief committees are doing their best to relieve the situation. Several foreign missionaries are reported to have been drowned.

The suddenness of the catastrophe was appalling. The storm began early in the morning and during the forenoon the wind attained hurricane violence. About the time for high tide there came a torrential downpour of rain, which overflowed the numerous streams emptying into the Yellow Sea along the Cheking coast.

The water rose faster than a man could run, and the coast towns were inundated. Then the water receded with a rush, carrying several towns with all their inhabitants to sea.

Venchow, with a population of 80,000, was among the cities practically obliterated. Of Chu-Chow and Tsin Tien, also little remains, and of Koneo nothing is left whatever.

ACTORS IN LONDON ARE AGAINST SUNDAY OPENING

Meeting Resolves Against Action, with Only One Dissenting Vote.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—At a meeting of actors and actresses held here today a resolution against the opening of theatres and music halls on Sundays was passed. There was only one dissenting vote. The question of opening the playhouses on Sunday has been much discussed lately as a result of the increasing business attracted by the moving picture shows which are open seven days a week.

WOOD AND WALSH TO BATTLE

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—One of the most interesting features of the visit of the Boston Americans is to be a pitching duel between Joe Wood, star twirler of that club, and Ed Walsh of the White Sox.

Manager Callahan argues that Walsh is a greater pitcher than either Wood or Walter Johnson. Johnson was defeated by Wood in Boston last Friday, and when the prospective pennant winners reached Chicago yesterday, Callahan at once challenged Manager Stahl to sanction the duel between Wood and Walsh.

The date of the game has not been decided on, but it is said that it will probably be Thursday.

POLICE COURT.

Judge Simes had three cases before him in police court on Tuesday afternoon. Lester Thompson was charged with assault on Charles Andrews, sealer of weights and measures, who was ordered from behind Thompson's bar on Market street and when he refused he was thrown out. The court held that Charles was in his rights and fined Thompson $10 and cost. He appealed and furnished $100 bonds to prosecute his appeal.

Albert Knowles and Josephine Knowles, who were brought down from Deerfield by the county authorities, were sentenced to 90 days in Deerfield and cost.

REPUBLICAN vs. "PROGRESSIVE"

We have a multitude of subscribers who will vote the Progressive ticket. We have no word of rebuke for them. For us we hold that the Republican party will do more in the way of reform than the Progressive party can. We know that President Taft has done more for progressive measures, by breaking up monopoly, than did Mr. Roosevelt. We believe him to be a truer peace man. We can better trust his safe judgment in all foreign matters and these are of prime importance. Had Roosevelt been President these last two years who can be sure we would not have had war with Mexico and intervention in Cuba? With Taft in the presidential chair we have maintained peace with honor.

MAYOR GAYNOR'S MISTAKE

Mayor Gaynor has many points deserving of praise. He is fearless and energetic. Unfortunately, however, his temperament is volatile and irascible. These attributes make him a doubtful leader in times of stress. While in many respects it must be admitted that he has shown himself capable in his present office, his lack of the disfavor of many who at one time were his enthusiastic supporters, had proper balance has marked him for the mayor maintained a straightforward course, attending to the evident duties of his office instead of wasting time and energy in pugnacious letters and unnecessary interviews, he could have been a power for good in New York. His unwillingness to follow such a course has injured him greatly in the city and the nation.

IS THIS MAN FIT?

William H. Lewis is not fit for membership in the American Bar Association, it seems, but he is fit to be the Assistant Attorney General of the United States, and to receive the cordial endorsement of Attorney General Wickersham, who indignantly deprecates the action of the committee. He was fit to be a hard working and conscientious student at the Harvard Law School from 1882 to 1885, finishing his course at Amherst. He was fit to be the mainstay of the Harvard football team and to take in coaching the team in subsequent years. No man of his college generation was better liked and respected. He was not socially assertive, obtrusive. He neither looked nor acted the part of one who sought to unbalance and maintain the prerogative of the negro to be regarded as the white man's equal. When he was assistant district attorney in Boston (and the appointment is to Roosevelt's credit) he acquitted himself with signal distinction. It remains for the executive committee of the American Bar Association to discover that because Mr. Lewis has some Indian blood in his veins and a strain of the Negro, he is not fit to sit in a convention where white men assemble to discuss questions of fair play between man and man.

Governor Bass's Position

It is unusual for a man who requests to be favored with a high office by a political party, has been granted, to repudiate, not to say denounce, the party which has favored him before the term of office has expired. This Governor Robert P. Bass has done in an address to the citizens of the state. Furthermore the address contains many statements that are as remarkably surprising as to his action. New Hampshire is one of the pioneer states in the movement for the progressive legislation that would insure to the people the free opportunity of controlling their political affairs which had notoriously slipped from their grasp through the ambitions of a few men who had been able to constitute themselves a political trust by the support and assistance of a powerful corporation. That movement has been eminently successful here, and it has been accomplished within the republican party. Under its impetus, Mr. Bass who has joined the movement after it was well under way was given the nomination, and election to the governorship only two years ago which place of honor and power he still holds. He was allowed by the party to dictate the platform every plank of which as to state affairs was enacted into law by the last legislature of republican majority. In a message to the house adjourning the session he said:

"You are at the close of one of the most arduous and successful sessions in the history of New Hampshire. As Governor of the state I wish to extend to you my heartfelt congratulations for the work you have accomplished. The legislation which you have originated and passed represents a broad field of progress in the governmental functions of this state. You have accomplished a work of high order and regardless of party you have fulfilled the pledges you have made to the people of New Hampshire. It has been a pleasure to me to cooperate with you in this work in so far as it lay in my power. All your legislation has tended to place the people more in control of their own affairs. With this legislative record you have placed the state in the vanguard of progress in the nation."

In now renouncing the republican party which holds the responsibility for such a result added to the even more important achievement of the same tenor previously accomplished and assuming the leadership of a new political organization with the sole purpose of making more difficult, if not impossible, the continued success of the republican party which has given him the only public prominence and power he has ever had. He has unjustly betrayed the confidence of a great body of voters who placed confidence in him and gave him success.

By such a course he has given the progressive movement in this state the greatest setback it has received by reason of dividing the forces that have carried it to success and united would easily be able to sustain it. He does not give one reason for the bolt from the republican party in this state which he proposes to lead. All the purposes which he enumerates have already been accomplished here by that party, the direct primary, prohibition of corporate participation in politics and corrupt practices, regulation of child labor, workmen's compensation act, and employers' liability, regulation of hours of labor, the effective elimination of bosses in parties established so to become under legal control.

His new party is not so reached and so gets away with the practices of bossism more complete than the old parties ever suffered in this state. For instance, in July a mass meeting to which every Roosevelt supporter was publicly invited was held in Manchester. About three hundred responded. After several hours of discussion that meeting voted down a proposition to form a new party, direct primary, no organized fight by advice and Bass himself, but decided to form a progressive organization with an executive committee to be named by the chairman. In defiance of the expressed will of the Roosevelt men of the state, Governor Bass now proclaims the new party, practically under a candidate for Governor for it, although not even a member of the executive committee of the organization. And yet he declares a purpose of his party is to do away with bossism and permit the rule of the majority! Such a subject indignantly cannot fail to be impressive upon the thoughtful people of New Hampshire.

With what grand assurance he writes of his third party. It proposes to put the bosses out and keep them out; it invites our progressive citizens to come and take their places. It is an undeniable fact that no one has been under more complete dictation than Mr. Bass by outside dictation since he was appointed Governor.

Men from New York came to his home and dictated his inaugural message; they were present and personally directed his course throughout the legislative session, putting him and his state supporters often in most embarrassing positions and at times jeopardizing important legislation; they dictated his inaugural message to the legislature, filled with inaccuracies because of their ignorance of facts they directed that he declare for Roosevelt last winter, an action which shocked his closest supporters here and at once divided the progressive forces of the party; they have now directed he reverse himself and defy the action of the mass meeting of five weeks ago and proclaim a new party.

This action is in accord with a public editorial utterance of one of his New York directors a year ago that the political program here should be to elect a progressive democratic Governor and a progressive republican United States Senator to succeed Senator Burleigh. It could not be worked except through a third party. The theory is that by putting in a

Except at the deaths of Queen Victoria and King Edward VII. there has been no such gathering in London as marked the funeral of General William Booth, late commander of the Salvation Army. General Booth was buried beside his wife in the old cemetery of Abney Park, in the heart of the east end of London. The photograph shows Bramwell Booth, Mrs. Booth, the late general's grandchildren and others passing through the cemetery.

Republican candidate for governor by the people will be defeated and the election be thrown into the legislature.

By securing as many third party men as possible, by sharp practice and otherwise they would hold the balance of power and trade with the democrats to join in the election of Felter for Governor, and in return the democrats join with them in electing Bass United States senator. He brazenly confesses that he has conspired to get as many of his associates, who at his dictation are now become bolters, upon the regular losing as regular republicans for that purpose, and as brazenly boasts that deception has worked to a considerable extent.

"In order that no action of mine might injure them, I refrain from making this statement until after Sept. 3."

Declaring that his new party has relative occupancy of the field for social justice he confesses to this sharp practice, knowing that public sentiment has justly held since parties are organized that he who participates in a party caucus is morally bound to abide by its results and support of the election the choice of the majority, and whoever has transgressed such rule of justice was deserving of the public contempt of men of New Hampshire will grieve, as they depart from the course that has made the little state stand high in the esteem of the country throughout its history as a nation if they follow a leadership as Governor Bass has now revealed it. The progressive movement was greatly helped to early access here by reason of the fact that men in Boston were directing matters that belonged to the people themselves. Conscious of their power has demonstrated so recently, they will not submit to a plan of being made a puppet borough of New York, a more distant city.

Governor Bass knows that his statement that Col. Churchill started the progressive movement in New Hampshire is absolutely false, a fact that he himself has admitted within a few months. He knows that it is false but as far as this state is concerned, that Roosevelt was the choice of a majority of the republicans, for the first was made as he himself proposed a senatorial campaign; he led, and largely financed, the campaign here participating in the convention with his associates, numbering more than two hundred and fifty, and was honorably elected and by every rule of justice and moral right should have abided by the result.

Within the memory of the oldest inhabitant there has never been such spectacle in the state politics of New Hampshire as has now been presented. It is confidently believed that strongly fortified with resources and directed with fanatical fervor as it is, the traditional manhood of the Granite State is still here and will assert itself against it in a way that will be effective and unmistakable. WISDOM.

(Detroit News)

Men gazed upon his form in awe
And women tremble when they saw
His stern face.

"Here's one who knows all things"
They thought;
"Yes, mental marvels he has wrought
With modest grace."

And when they saw where he might come
They all ceased talking and were dumb.
And lent an ear.
For words of wisdom he might say
They hung around in mobs all day
That they might hear.

Why, was it that he seemed so wise?
This simple fellow, in the eyes
Of all the masses?
Of all themselves?

It was, because he bought and wore
A monstrous pair of those new "tortoise-shell rimmed glasses."

OPENING STORY

Reunions are always interesting to the public which has a perfectly natural desire to see the things its fathers and mothers saw and still talk about. Many of these successful reunions have been covered by the relentless hand of the grim angel, some have been partly by purely human reasons. Last year saw the tremendously successful reunion of Joe Webber and Lew Fields, this year will mark the equally important reunion of Primrose and Dockstader. Twenty years ago the name of Primrose and Dockstader's minstrels was a household word in every locality where minstrelsy flourished in the hearts of the people, and as exemplified by them, this form of entertainment reached its high water mark. When George Primrose retired some years ago it was with a fortune well earned. But relaxation did not agree with him and there were rumors of his reentry into active life every little while. This summer this re-entry was definitely decided upon and since it is to be made in company with his former colleague, it will be all the more important. It will give those who have never seen Primrose an opportunity to see him under peculiarly advantageous conditions and those who have seen Dockstader of late years, of seeing this king of Black-face comedy in the most elaborate and complete setting which he has ever ornamented.

The production which will be known as Primrose and Dockstader's greater minstrels will be the best equipped minstrel company which ever set out from New York City. It will reach this city on Thursday evening, Sept. 19 at the Portsmouth Theatre. All summer a great scenic studio has been busy turning out the elaborate settings which will be used, settings that have never been duplicated by a touring minstrel company before. The costumes of the great assemblage of forty performers are all new and the organization will look as spry and as good as a Fifth Avenue haberdashery blundered up.

There will be the usual parade, starting at 11.45, the magic minstrel hour in every city where it is practicable, and the band that will lead the parade will be one of the largest ever taken on tour, and besides this band, there will be some of the best known minstrel talent that can be found.

The Dockstader company of last year form the nucleus of this aggregation, but several acts have been imported from abroad. Altogether the visit of Primrose and Dockstader's Greater Minstrels will be one to be remembered and one not to be missed.

Congress of Safety Testers to Visit Hippodrome

Delegates to the Sixth International Congress for testing materials, the official name for the International Safety Congress, made up of engineers from all parts of the world and some guests of the city will visit the Hippodrome in a body on Wednesday evening next. It is planned to have the engineers visit the big playhouse this week but the unprecedented success of the new spectacular show "Under Many Flags" made it difficult to secure a sufficiently large number of seats to accommodate all the delegates. Mr. Lee Shubert finally arranged for the reservation of 2500 places on the night of Sept. 11.

This is merely half the entire seating capacity of the house. There are just 5200 seats in the New York Hippodrome. General William H. Bixby, chief of the army engineers, is President Taft's representative in the congress, which is being taken care of by the officers of the American Society for testing metals. P. A. C. HAVE ENJOYABLE ANNIVERSARY OUTING

Clam Bake, Sports and Ball Game of Great Interest.

The Portsmouth Athletic Club, on Tuesday observed their twenty-seventh anniversary, and favored with an ideal day: it became one of the most enjoyable outings for years. It was held at Rand's Grove, Jenness Beach, and there was a large attendance of the club members.

The members met at the Club house on Court street at noon and shortly after, headed by the Naval band, marched via Court, Middle, Congress streets to Market Square, where special cars were in waiting. The officers of the Club as usual headed the procession followed by the past presidents and the special guest of the day, Chester Caldwell of St. Paul, a charter member of the club, who has not been here for a great many years. At Rand's Grove Simpson of Dover had prepared a fine clam bake which was opened at 1.30 and it was done to a turn to which some over two hundred people present did ample justice. In the afternoon the usual field sports were held and these were won as follows:

Shot put, won by Ira A. Newick, 39ft. 10in.; Frank Newick, second, 37ft.; Ralph Trueman, third, 35ft. As this is the third time Mr. Newick has won this event he becomes the owner of the J. Page silver cup.

Fungo hitting won by Ralph Trueman; George Wood, second; Sperry Locke, third.

Running broad jump, won by G. R. Mattison, 16ft. 10 1/2 in.; Walter Fisher, second, 16ft. 10in.; Ralph Trueman, third, 14ft.

100 yard dash, won by G. E. Mattison; Walter Fisher, second; Oren Shaw, third.

The real event of the day, however, was the annual ball game between the married and single men, and the married men again proved the winners by a score of 11 to 3. It was a good game and two catches were of a sensational order. Bill Woods making a running dive for a ball and getting it, and Jewell also made a great one-handed catch. Ira Newick did the twirling for the married men and Russell Wear was the slab artist for the singles. The make up of the victorious team was: G. Woods, cf.; I. Newick, p.; W. Woods, lf.; Clarke, 2b.; F. Newick, c.; Jewell, ss.; C. Brackett, 3b.; Trueman, 3b. and Oren Shaw, rf. Single men—Mattison, ss.; Fisher, c.; Wear, p.; Locke, 3b.; Karlson, 3b.; Blaisdell, lf.; Mitchell, 2b.; Torrey, rf.; Coleman, cf.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6
Married,	0	1	3	5	2	0—11
Single,	0	0	1	0	1	0—2

The return to this city was on the seven o'clock car and the line was formed on Haymarket square and with a plentiful supply of red fire, they marched through Middle, to Congress, to Pleasant, to State, to Chestnut streets to the Club house.

The Naval band gave a concert from 8 to 10 o'clock and during the evening a German lunch was served.

The entire arrangements were in charge of the officers of the club: President, George A. Macanley; vice, president, Fred H. Marden; secretary, Walter H. Page, and the directors, Allan Robinson, Harry H. Foote, James E. Whalley, Sperry H. Locke and Willis P. Rugg.

THE VICTORIOUS P. C. U.

Ye Sloggers haul down your flag and never raise it more.

Against the mighty P. C. U. you tried

To win once more,

In vain you practice day and night,

In vain you bed your rocks,

You can mere fan the air with Rudolph in the box.

The world has heard of great Kabeuka, whose scientific sling

Suggests the might of Hercules and puzzles everything,

His heart and head are in the game,

Decision in his face,

He let them fly—strike, strike, you're out, they rarely reach first base.

There's catcher Fredericks whose grand exploits the blush maidens sing,

As quick as light the boy might nip

a swallow on the wing,

His hands and feet are everywhere,

His throw is true and quick,

And you bet on bases three when

Charlie takes the stick.

There's good old Kincaid who stands on first and never lets them by Invaders trembled when they here his awful battle cry,

Sanguine, aggressive, confident, he battles in his shirt,

Well Kincaid is everything that is good and constantly alert.

There's Captain Hoffman that classic youth whose undisputed skill

Has won his fame on second base, where he is out to kill,

And he who reaches second base must do it on the square

For valiant Mr. Hoffman is ever lurking there,

There's gallant Morris, who of him can say the proper word,

With vigilance and zealously he watches over third,

And though he has a little bump he has the goods as well

And when he stands before the foe—speak plain—he gives them, well.

There's shortstop Hughes whose hair stands out in bold relief

But gee, he has an awful brain his blistful growth beneath,

A natural baseball general and quicker than a cat,

A smoother fan there never was since Noah took the hat.

There's Dandeneau who never brags though thousands sing his praises

He takes the ball, awaits the ball, the spellbound people gaze,

Three bagger, better yet, the home the cheering masses cry,

And when he figures in the field he takes them on the fly.

Left fielder Lynskey, is bound to win, he never lets them pass,

He nips them as they skyward curl or grabs them in the grass,

With meteoric speed he swats the regulation ball

And drives it half a mile away behind McPherson's wall.

There's Walter Lynskey, the little lad as gentle as a girl

He can bat and catch the ball no matter how its whirled,

He scarcely tips one hundred pounds and never gets the shakes

And what he lacks in quantity, he quality he makes.

God bless the mighty Portsmouth boys, to manhood may they grow,

And may their strivings ever be—Pro bono publico

And may they fight in future years as now they foes they fight.

And every act of every one be honorable and right.

The boy who wrote these truthful lines was once a famous fan

What never made his second base nor batted any man,

Slighted by nature, small, and every light his brain.

But listen—P. C. U. won the championship game.

Is Your Child Fed

To meet the demands of school life?

Study taxes the brain and nerves of the growing youngsters.

Certainly, that's natural and expected; and if fed right, they grow rosy in body and hearty in brain.

If a child droops under school training it is a SIGNAL FLAG.

Something used up each day that is not replaced from the food.

Don't neglect the signal!

There is one absolutely dependable food because it contains the certain parts of wheat and barley that rebuild, not only the body, but the gray matter in Brain and nerve centres.

If you have any question of the scientific truth of this statement, write us for analysis of Brain and nerve centres and analysis of

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

There is no guess work here, but absolute dependable fact that can be made use of by any parent sufficiently interested in the child's development to investigate.

A regular diet of Grape-Nuts and cream, as part of each meal, will tell its tale of health and (fortunately) the children like it.

MEXICO WILL SEND TROOPS ACROSS BORDER

Will Protect Americans and Claim Conditions Are Getting Better.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10.—A secret session of the Mexican Senate last night granted the request of Pres. Madero for authorization to ask the United States Government to permit the transportation of troops through American territory.

It is planned to send a column of troops via El Paso, Tex., and Douglas, Ariz., into the State of Sonora, where several bands of rebels are operating. Government officials continue to regard as absurd the reports that the United States Government is seriously considering intervention in Mexico. It was declared at the National palace today that conditions are steadily growing better instead of worse and that it is a question of only a short time before peace will be restored. In the meantime every effort will be made, it was announced, to protect foreigners and their property.

Recent developments in the South do not appear to include any serious encounters. Rebels are reported to be operating in Puebla, Morelos and the State of Mexico.

Delayed reports tell of a battle lasting nine hours near the town of Pitzotlan. The rebels were finally repulsed from Muguiz, State of Coahuila, and there is some reason for believing that their objective is the border town of C. P. Diaz.

Librado Galavaz, one of Orozco's officers, is reported to have been killed in the attack upon San Miguel Mexiquita last week, and his body is said to be still hanging from the balcony of the municipal building there. Manuel Benavente, an American citizen, according to the story brought here today, was fatally wounded by rebels when they attacked Atlixaco, near Taxico Guerrero, last Saturday. Benavente is said to have been a native of Texas, and manager of a mining property.

The rebels were commanded by Jesus H. Salgado. Money was demanded. The employees of the mill resisted and several of them were wounded. Benavente was shot through the head and body. Giovanni Zodik, an Italian, was killed.

Much ammunition and 160 soldiers left the capital last night for Monterey. A new rebel movement has been reported at Bayones, State of Nuevo Leon, near Monterey.

The return to the capital of Minister Rafael Hernandez has been delayed by the burning of a bridge of the National Railroad by the rebels 40 miles north of San Luis Potosi. This is said to be the first time that the rebels have interfered with the operation of trains over the Laredo route of the National Railroad.

DARTMOUTH WILL START FOOTBALL PRACTISE TODAY.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 10.—The first real football practise for the Dartmouth College varsity candidates will be held here this afternoon. Thirty-five candidates reported Monday to Captain Bennett and Head Coach Cavanaugh, who gave them a short talk before they went out on the gridiron for a little limbering-up exercise.

More than half of the men here are veterans from last year's squad and among the first-string men were Englehorn, right tackle, Plishon and Landon, sub backfield, and Dunbar, guard. Whitney, last year's freshman captain and the college champion shotputter, is eligible to play this year and was on the field with others from last year's freshman squad. Chee, the quarterback, also reported. The men were given work in quick starts and passing the ball and a little footwork was gone through with in the evening the squad was at the gymnasium for the first formal football lecture by Coach Cavanaugh. Assistant Coaches Bankhart and Elcock were present.

Dr. Bowler, the trainer, arrived today and will have the men under his eye until the close of the season. E. J. Duley, last year's captain, and J. T. Keady, a former Dartmouth star, were also on the field Monday. Among the men present were Johnson, who was in college two years ago, Dunbar, Hutchins, McCulloch, Beer, Barlow, Lafferty and Ashton.

E. Mackay Edgar, Winner of Motor Boat Trophy, Would Like a Chance at Bigger Game.

Mr. Edgar is a wealthy man and is well able to stand the cost of building and maintaining a cup defender, even of the size of the last yacht, Shamrock and Reliance.

CHASING POLITICAL PHANTOMS

In the work of arousing the people to the danger that threatened our civilization from the abuses of concentrated wealth and power it was likely in exercise, the public imagination was wrought upon and a reign of sensational journalism and unjust and unprincipled muckraking has followed, in which much injustice has been done to honest men. Demagogues have seized the opportunity further to inflame the public mind and have sought to turn the peculiar conditions to their advantage.

We are living in an age in which exaggeration of the defects of our present condition, by false charges of responsibility for it against individuals and classes, by holding up to the feverish imagination of the less fortunate and the discontented the possibilities of a millennium, a condition of popular unrest has been produced. New parties are being formed, with the proposed purpose of satisfying the unrest by promising a panacea. So far as inequality of condition can be lessened and equality of opportunity can be promoted by improvement of our educational system, the betterment of the laws to insure the quick administration of justice, and by the prevention of the acquisition of privilege without just compensation, in so far as the adoption of the legislation above recited and laws of a similar character may aid the less fortunate in their struggle with the hardships of life, all are in sympathy with a continued effort to remedy the injustice and to aid the weak, and I venture to say that there is no national administration in which more real steps of such progress have been taken than in the present one. But so far as the propaganda for the satisfaction of unrest involves the promise of a millennium, a condition in which the rich are to be made reasonably poor and the poor reasonably rich by law, we are chasing a phantom; we are holding out to those whose unrest we fear a prospect and a dream, a vision of the impossible.

EXETER LETTER

Exeter is to have an agricultural fair at the town hall Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings of this week. The proceeds are to be used for the aid of the Federated Boys' Club. There will be the usual display of fruits, needlework and antiques. Music entertainment, and addresses will also form a part of the program each afternoon and evening. The committee is now earnestly seeking exhibits. A feature of the show will be a baby show on Friday afternoon, the judges being the wives of the local physicians.

The organization of the Federated Boys' Club which is a national one, has a representative here who is working for the benefit of the society, he being A. C. Long, of Providence, R. I., and he stated that he was never in a place where the people were so interested and the workers so willing as in Exeter, and it is his intention to form a club here. The object is to keep the younger boys off the streets by furnishing some wholesome amusements for them. The national federation has a membership of 808,000, and in many cities expensive buildings have been erected for it. A bold case of sneak thieves was pulled off Monday evening about 9 o'clock when some one entered the home of Dr. H. C. Day on Front street and stole his medicine case which was in the hallway. The police were notified to be on the watch for anyone trying to pawn it, but it is likely that the thieves are shrewd enough to take it out of town. The case was valued at about $10, but the Doctor was some inconvenienced to be without it this morning.

PIE IN PRESS GALLERY

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF ONE "LIKE MOTHER MADE."

The manner in which it disappeared Kicked up All Kinds of Disturbance at the South End of the Capitol—Walter Confesses.

Not many days ago the members of the press who have the distinction of belonging to the house press gallery, were given a rare treat in form of two or three crates of Georgia peaches.

There are many kinds of Georgia peaches; some of them are not crated for the benefit of the press gallery, or any one else, and come one in a package—but we digress, this is a story of a peach pie. It can best be told in the language of a richly endowed wielder of the pen of the Washington Times. We therefore quote:

The dramatic personae of this affair are: Col. Charles H. Mann, superintendent of the house press gallery; Col. E. Jesse Conway of the Associated Press; Howard L. Acton of the Washington bureau of the Cincinnati Times-Star; Frank B. Lord of the International News Service. One peach pie. One colored waiter. Certain hungry by-standers in shape of newspaper men, messengers, house attaches, and members of congress.

The story concerns the mysterious disappearance of the peach pie, or rather a large part of it. Its disappearance has kicked up all manner of disturbance at the south end of the capitol.

Colonel Mann is an old Virginia cavalryman. Colonel Conway put in some years in the regular army in the Philippines. Both know something of the gentle art of foraging, and both understand the importance of subsistence in a campaign.

So the other day when a member of congress sent to the press gallery two large boxes of fine peaches, the two veterans selected certain of the peaches and quietly took them down to the house restaurant and gave instructions to have a pie constructed after those plans and specifications such as mother used to follow so successfully. The pie was to be two inches thick and with other dimensions in proportion.

All went well for a time. The pie was a success. At noon Colonel Mann and Colonel Conway sat them down to gather and each ate one-fourth of the pie. It was smothered in cream. Colonel Mann was heard to remark to Colonel Conway, as each bent behind a bastion of pie:

"Gee, I wish some of them fellows could see us."

Having eaten a square meal of pie they gave orders for its conservation in the ice box until 4 o'clock. Then they were once more to advance in the attack. It was not long after this that Colonel Mann, who in the house press gallery, was heard to make certain remarks commiserating folks who were so unfortunate as not to be able to eat real pie. He also let fall certain observations about the pie he would eat at 4 o'clock.

About 2 o'clock, according to the testimony, Howard L. Acton dropped gently down into the house restaurant. Mr. Acton is an accomplished young man, with an indurated countenance, a steady eye, a handsome and yet mephistophelian cast of feature and a capacity for sleight of hand that would make old Hermann the great chase himself round the block. Mr. Acton stepped into the restaurant, singled out the right waiter, and said: "Mr. Mann told me to come down here and get a piece of that peach pie over there in the refrigerator."

"Yassah," said the waiter. "And bring some cream with it," quoth Mr. Acton.

"Yassah."

Presently Mr. Acton was communing with one-fourth of the Mann-Conway peach pie.

Soon Mr. Love hove in sight!

"Frank," said Mr. Acton, standing up from behind a rampart of pie, "tell the waiter Charley Mann said you could have that piece of pie over there in the ice box."

Mr. Lord duly advised the waiter that he had come on a mission of pie as an envoy of Colonel Mann.

Presently there was no pie. It was good pie while it lasted. Mr. Acton and Mr. Lord agreed to that. They got through about 3 p. m. and paid the waiter each a nickel for the cream. Accounts vary as to whether they tipped the waiter.

Punctually at 4 o'clock Colonel Mann and Colonel Conway appeared in the house restaurant. They sat down. They waited pie.

The pie did not come. An investigation was ordered, and then it developed there was no pie, and the waiter, under the third degree, broke down and confessed.

Uniquely Dressed.

Representative Cyrus A. Sulloway of New Hampshire, the tallest and largest member of the House of Representatives, was uniquely dressed the other day. He wore a large brimmed Panama hat, a Prince Albert coat with trousers to match, russet-colored bedroom slippers and pale yellow socks.

Uncle Cy likes not a hard shoo.

OATH TAKEN BY TWO JUDGES

Justice Holmes Presides Over Court During Ceremony for Dodge and Morton—Father of New Judge on Bench.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Chief Justice Holmes of the United States Supreme Court presided over the Federal Court in Boston today when the oath was administered to Judge Frederick Dodge, who was advanced from the District Court to the Circuit judgeship, and to James M. Morton, Jr., of Fall River, who becomes District Court Judge. On the right of Justice Holmes were seated upon the bench Justice Morton of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, father of the new Federal judge; Judge Putnam and Judge Dodge. At the left were Judges Colt, Brown and Morton. In one of the jury boxes were members of the families of Judges Dodge and Morton. United States District Attorney French and Assistant Garland and Sullivan sat directly in front of the clerk's desk.

All the remaining seats in the courtroom were filled by prominent members of the bar who practise in the Federal courts and officials and employees of the Government. Clerk Fogarty of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals read the order of the President of the United States appointing Judge Dodge to the Circuit judgeship and Chief Deputy Clerk Mason read the order of appointment for Judge Morton. The oaths of office were read by each of the two judges, while all in the courtroom stood.

The judges then retired to the lobby of the courts, where Judges Dodge and Morton found vases filled with roses, which had been placed there as a tribute from the office of United States marshal.

Judge Morton took his place in the United States District Court room for the drawing of the grand jury, after which he delivered the charge. Judges Colt, Putnam and Brown began the session of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Dodge received congratulations while in his office immediately following the ceremony.

J. BRUCE ISMAY TO RESIGN.

As President of Big Shipping Trust—P. A. S. Franklin Slated for New Executive Head.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—J. Bruce Ismay, who figured in the news a few months ago by reason of being among the Titanic survivors, is to resign as president of the International Mercantile Marine Company, it is understood today, on good authority, and probably will be succeeded as executive head of the company by P. A. S. Franklin, now vice president and head of the business in this country.

Harold A. Sanderson, first vice president, will resign at the same time, it is understood, and will be succeeded by Frederick Toppin, his assistant. Mr. Sanderson has been head of the Liverpool office. The changes are expected the first of next year.

The head office of the International Mercantile Marine Company, which was incorporated 10 years ago in New Jersey with a capital of $120,000,000, has always been in this city. Clement A. Griscom was for two years president and executive manager. When he resigned through ill-health Mr. Ismay was elected president.

Mr. Griscom's ability was thought so much of that he was elected chairman of the board of directors when he retired as president. He is now 72 years old, and it is regarded as likely that on his retirement Mr. Ismay will be elected to the chairmanship of the directors.

New York is already the most important port of the company. There will be a new service out of here for the Pacific Coast after the Panama Canal is opened. J. P. Morgan controls the stock of the International Mercantile Marine, and it is understood the changes mentioned were agreed on at a London conference with him this summer.

Mr. Franklin, who is slated to succeed Mr. Ismay, is about 40. He has been engaged in shipping for 20 years. It is understood that with the resignation of Mr. Ismay the White Star line will not be so prominent in the management of the International. One rumor is that when Mr. Ismay leaves the presidency of the International he

GUESSER IS OUSTED

Government Employed Man to Estimate Fish Weight.

Discharge Expert Who Had to Tell on Sight Number of Pounds in Each Salmon Bought for Breeding.

Bangor, Me.—The official guesser for the United States government has lost his job. For years the government has bought live salmon upon the good eye of a veteran fisherman, who took a squint at each fish and then put down in his book what he guessed to be the right weight. The bills were paid accordingly—thousands of dollars.

Every year the government buys from 600 to 1,000 live salmon for breeding from the weir owners on the Bucksport, Verona, Orland and Penobscot shores. The price paid is the market rate, from 20 to 30 cents a pound, with 60 cents bonus for each fish for the trouble of keeping them alive.

To get at the exact weight of a live salmon is practically impossible, for it is very delicate work at best in dipping them from the "pond" in the weir to the "car," which is an old dory filled with water, carefully lined with cotton flannel and covered with a netting, which is covered outside with canvas. The utmost caution is necessary, for in the spring the salmon is strangely delicate. So it is that weighing them is entirely out of the question.

The government has for years hired a veteran fisherman to make the rounds of the weirs on the little power boat and keep account of the fish. All the man had to go by was his judgment, but he could tell by a glance at a fish, even in the semi-darkness of the car, about what it would weigh—ten, twelve, fourteen or perhaps sixteen or eighteen pounds. It was guessing, but by years of experience in handling fish he could guess very near. At any rate, his guessing was accepted for years by the fishermen who sold the fish, as well as by the government.

Perhaps the government officials in Washington didn't approve of paying out money by guess. Whatever may have been the conclusion, the government guesser has lost his job. Hereafter twelve pounds will be the fixed weight of every salmon paid for. It may weigh eight pounds or it may weigh twenty pounds, but the fishermen are to be paid for a twelve-pound fish and no more nor less. This weight is below the average, as the fish run, but, of course, the fishermen are not obliged to sell an eighteen or twenty pounder at the twelve-pound basis to the government unless he chooses. He can send it to the markets.

The government is buying 1,000 fish this year, which, at the twelve-pound standard, will cost from $3 to $3.50 a fish.

BANDIT'S GOLD IS FOUND

Workmen Remodeling Old Plantation Manor House Discover Hoard of Notorious Bank Robber.

Liberty, Mo.—Ten thousand dollars in gold, believed to have been hidden by William Anderson, a bandit who terrorized central Missouri immediately after the Civil war, has been found in the old manor house on what was the plantation of William Burch, in Howard county, Missouri.

The property is owned by C. E. Yancey of Liberty. Mr. Yancey was notified of the discovery by employees who are remodeling the old house.

According to those familiar with the story of the death of Anderson in 1868, he was wounded after robbing a central Missouri bank and stopped that night in the manor house of the Burch plantation, dying several days later. It was in the room in which the bandit slept that the money was found.
